- Complexities of business life sometimes require radical solutions - Answers Investigation have the resources and infrastructure to help in all areas:
- Employees
- Theft
- Corporate Fraud
- Competitor Information

- Surveillance

TRACING

Whether electronically or through physical research, we trace missing persons, debtors, beneficiaries, business contacts for business or personal reasons; all tracing work is handled efficiently and, of course, discreetly.

EMPLOYMENT

- Industrial Tribunal
- There is a growing climate of employees taking their employer to employment tribunals for unfair dismissal, leaving many employers fearful of sacking people - especially in light of recent changes to employment law
- You may know that your employee is committing sufficient misconduct to warrant their dismissal but are afraid to sack them due to lack of evidence
- We can help you obtain the evidence, which you can use in your defence should matters go to court.

SURVEILLANCE

- Commercial Surveillance
 - Working on behalf of companies to catch out people or other organisations who are behaving in a way that is detrimental to their business.
- Insurance Discreetly observing people for insurance companies when they have suspicions that somebody is claiming fraudulently.
- Sickness Observation to verify whether someone who is absent through sickness is genuine
- Theft Pure detective work - guilty or not? This may involve under cover work, and we have skilled, experienced people to fit any scenario. Our client may already know who the culprit is but just need the evidence.
- UnderCover Perhaps posing as new employees of a firm in order to witness internal events which are not seen by the management.
- Legal Surveillance
 - Obtaining evidence for possible use in court on behalf of our clients, be they private or commercial. This evidence may be required to support a court action against someone or to defend someone against an action made against them.

THEFT

- Company Theft
- Pure detective work - guilty or not? Proving theft and finding the culprit may involve under cover work, and we have skilled, experienced people to fit any scenario, male or female from 16 to 70.
- You may already know who the culprit is but just need the evidence; you may need our help to identify the thief. Either way, we plan and execute professionally to work towards the result you need

UNDERCOVER

- People and Resources
- Our company comprises people of all ages and backgrounds, combining investigative experience with the ability to "act a part"
- We may not have carried out every undercover role - but we have acted the part of many "employees" or "customers" - from a teenage schoolgirl to old age pensioner
- Use of undercover operatives will help you to get to the truth of the matter

COMPUTER FRAUD

Where computer systems are involved, there is the need for an IT investigator, someone who can understand the systems, someone who has the knowledge and experience to identify loopholes, the opportunities for fraud, possibly repair the damage and - above all - recommend solutions to make reoccurrence less likely. An experienced IT investigator may collate evidence of a fraud in action, using analytical techniques (mathematics & probability) how the crime was committed, where it was committed and - most importantly - who by.

DEBT RECOVERY

Answers will pursue your debtors with the ruthless determination that you would expect from a successful collection agency. Uncompromising initial contact will often result in full settlement or a short term staged repayment schedule.

Unlike many collection agencies we do not expect you to pay fees on uncollected monies. This is your assurance that we will work that bit harder on your behalf.

The commission itself is charged at 10% of all monies recovered and a further 5% upon recovery of the total debt - there are no extra charges and no hidden costs
